| Company Overview            | eProsimas is a company focused on high performance middleware. We help you design your distributed system covering all the areas impacting communications: The middleware technology to choose, the dm , the quality_of_service_qos_policies for the different data flows, the data links, how to test the systems, etc. eProsimas develops open source tools for data_distribution_service_dds , such as eProsimas rpc over DDS, and eProsimas Non-Intrusive Recorder for DDS, compatible with the main DDS implementations. eProsimas develops the main standalone open source implementation of rtps , the underlying protocol of DDS. |

| Product/Service Description | eProsimas Fast RTPS is a new lightweight Open Source (Apache 2.0) implementation of the DDS protocol (RTPS, Real Time Publish Subscribe Protocol), allowing direct access to the protocol settings and features. It includes also a minimum DDS API , idl support, and automatic code generation. It is available in many platforms (windows, linux, android, mac os, etc) and fully compliant with the latest DDS-RTPS revision.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
