

3.2.1 Charter

return to Legal Documents

A charter is a legal document providing basic information about a community of interest \(Col\): its location, purpose¹⁾, profit status (usually Non-Profit Organization \(NPO\)), governing board (e.g., board of directors) composition, and stakeholder (or ownership) structure. Sometimes the charter is referred to as the articles of incorporation or a certificate of incorporation. In the case of a for-profit corporation, the articles of incorporation must include the number, classes, and par values of authorized shares. In the United States, most states require the name and address of the company's registered agent as well.

The Col charter is important because when it is filed and approved by a legal entity, such as a secretary of state, it “gives birth” to a new Col as a formal corporation. A Col charter is not the same as the Col bylaws, which build off the charter and add things like fundamental governing rules, board meeting schedules, conditions of membership, etc.

Note:

1. Charter, as described in this section, only applies to ecosystem Cols that file for incorporation.
2. Ecosystem Cols and domain Cols are also created using a charter, but these charters are not legal or legally binding documents. Instead they are “subcharters” of, and must be approved by, their parent ecosystem using a process defined in the parent ecosystem's P&P.
3. The Charter serves as part of the Regulatory Aspect within the Governing Model. See Governing Roles and the Governing Model for more information.
